PROSPECTS OF THE FAIR.

MITTEE YESTERDAY — SUBSCRIPTIONS BY THE RAILROADS AND HOTELS NOT SATISFACTORY.

The World's Fair Executive Committee met at its rooms in Broadway yesterday, but, owing to the absence of a quorum, it transacted very little business.

H. G. Stebbins called the meeting to order, the foltowing members being present: Thomas C. Rutter, Colonel Strong. J. M. Cornell, W. A. Cole, Rufus, Hatch, S. Haynes, General Sterling, C. Schlesinger, ex-Governor Crawford and Thomas McElrath. Mr.
Haynes presented a resolution adopted by the Hardware Board of Trade (representing seventy-eight houses engaged in the hardware business), expressing interest in the success of the Fair. Mr. Haynes thought that liberal subscriptions would be forthcoming from that quarter. It was resolved to send a copy of this resolution to the stationers, jewellers, and various other trade organizations, inviting cooperation. A resolution was also adopted calling for the return to the secretary by April 16 of all the books of subscription in the hands of the committees and members.

The committee will meet again next Wednesday.
There will be a decision reached then as to whether the work of the committee shall be continued or sbandoned. Mr. Cole, one of the committee to wait upon the transportation companies, said yesterday that the prospects were favorable. Some of the other commissioners, however, complained that the railroads, which would be so largely benefited by the Fair, were not subscribing very liberally. The botel men have subscribed very little, it was said, complaining that the Fair would rather be an injury than a benefit, from the fact that it would cause more botels to be erected, and thus permanently increase competition; and, also, that they now have all the guests they can accommodate, and would be no better off if the Fair were held. Mr. Eno, who owns the Fifth Avenue Hotel building, refused to subscribe anything, because the site for the Fair had not been fixed in Central Park, which he thought was the proper place. Notwit

VOGEL HELD FOR TRIAL.

VOGEL HELD FOR TRIAL.

Vogel, the accomplice of the dead blackmailer, Sagort, was taken to the Yorkville Police Court yesterday afternoon by Detectives Campbell and Cornish, and was held for trial by Justice Murray. Louis Strasburger, of No. 128 East Sixty-first-st., made a formal charge of attempted robbery against him, under Chapter 1, Section 58 of the Revised Statutes, which provides for the punishment by imprisonment for not longer than five years of any one convicted of attempting to extort money by means of threatening letters. In his complaint Mr. Strasburger says that the sum of $60,000 was "attempted to be taken, stolen and carried away by said Vogel," who confessed to having written him a letter demanding that sum. The deposition of Miss Louisa Spelten, the governess, was also taken. She merely repeated the story which she told to the Coroner.

merely repeated the story when a conversation after ward, Vogel said: "I have nothing more to say than what I have said already before the Coroner. The Justice then fixed the bail at $10,000, and the prisoner was locked up. In a conversation afterward, Vogel said that he felt his present disgrace keenly, and expressed a wish that he had been shot instead of the unfortunate man who met his death at the hands of Officer Campbell. CHARGED WITH WIFE MURDER.

Annie Dean, age thirty-nine, died in Bellevue Hospital April 7. Her body was covered with bruises and wounds. She had been found on April 2 in the hallway of No. 35 Frankfort-st., unable to move, and when taken to the hospital stated to the police that her husband had beaten her. Her husband, John Dean, is a longshoreman addicted to liquor. He was arrested on the day of the assault. Yesterday, upon hearing the testimony of several neighbors, a coroner's jury found him guilty of wife murder, and he was committed to the Tombs without bail.

ANTHONY COMSTOCK INDICTED.

ANTHONY COMSTOCK INDICTED.

In the Court of General Sessions yesterday the Grand Jury handed in an indictment against Anthony Constock for assault and battery committed on Fanny M. Hoffman, of No. 156 East Fifty-secondst, November 5, 1879, when Mr. Comstock went to the complainant's house and charged her with writing and sending obscene and scantahous letters to persons in her neighborhood. The woman denied the charges, and as Mr. Comstock became violent in his manner, she went into the hall and sent a message to the police station asking for assistance. Mr. Comstock followed her into the hall, dragged her back into the room, and told her that he had a Narrant for her arrest.

EX-PRESIDENT OF THE PENNSYLVANIAR. R. EX-PRESIDENT OF THE PENNSYLVANIAR, R. It is well known that for more than two years Coionel Scott had paralysts of the left side. To use the words of one of his intimate friends, "his left side was nearly as dead as tever will be." Huy placed himself under the care of some of the most entirent physicians in this country, but received no relief. Then he went to Europe, consulting and taking freshment of some of the most celebrated medical men of the old world. He remained there nine menties in quest of hea to, and then returned home no better than when he left, and hopes of the country better than when he left, and hopes of the country better than when he left, and hopes personal friend, who was also a triend of Dr. Flower, and in apparently hopeless cases, persuaded Colonel score to see that to open and shut his left hand, which he had not done for two years before. He continued under Dr. Flower arreament, and in less than aix months declared himself cured. He is now as actively engaged in business as he ever was, and cajors aplendid health.

Comment on this remarkable case is needloss, but Dr. Flower more re-
